

PIZZA TIME

Q: Complete the story by selecting the most suitable preposition.

Fox was leaning (1) the pizza shop when he saw his friend Dexter coming out of the pizza parlor.

(below, between, against)

“You can’t fire me.” said Dexter.

“I quit!”

“Fine,” said the boss.

“Maybe my next delivery boy won’t eat up all the pizza!”

Dexter left in a huff. And Fox stepped (2) the pizza parlor. (inside, among, at)

“Do you have a job for me?” asked Fox.

“Do you like pizza?” said the boss.

“I prefer hot dogs,” said Fox.

“Excellent,” said the boss.

“Are you fast on your feet?”

“Like the wind,” said Fox.

“Excellent,” said the boss.

“Take this pizza over to Mrs. Hanna. She has been waiting a long time.”

Fox was out the door in a flash.

He picked up speed when he was (3) Homer’s Hill. (on, of, off)

“I’m the fastest fox (4) town,” he said. (on, to, in)

At that moment, Louise came taking her pet mice to the vet for their shots.

BAAM!!! It was quite the crash! Fox, Louise, and everything else went flying.

They saw stars.

“Now you’ve done it!” said Fox.

“You’ve made me late. I will really have to step on it!” And he hurried away.

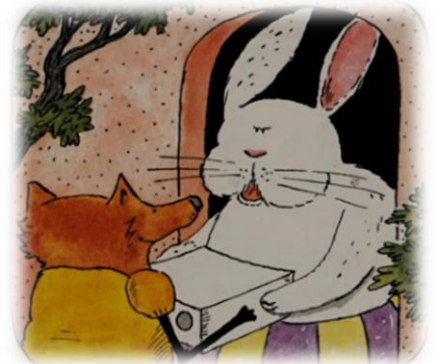

Louise went to the vet’s. Doctor Jane opened the box.

“Where are your pet mice?” she said.

“This looks like a pizza.”

“Uh-oh,” said Louise.

Fox knocked (5) Mrs. Hanna’s door. (on, at, into)

“It’s about time,” said Mrs. Hanna.

“I am having a party. And we’re just dying for pizza”

“It will be worth the wait.” said Fox.

“Pizza time!” said Mrs. Hanna to her friends. She opened the box.

Back (6) the pizza parlor the boss was hopping mad. (on, at, off)

“Mrs. Hanna just called,” he said

“And you are fired!”

“Didn’t she like the pizza?” said Fox.
